Legitimate Students in Astrology.

Gentlemen,

TO you I confess my self engaged by promise, to publish the Body of Astrology; and that you may not think me regardless of that my Obligation, I must take leave to tell you, that the task is both large and laborious, indeed far larger then it first presented it self unto me. If therefore you shall think me too tedious in my performance, as the Friends of Zeuxis commonly reported him in his Painting: Let me reply with Zeuxis,---I am indeed (saith he) long a doing whatsoever I take in hand, because what I Paint, I Paint for Eternity. I would not thrust a thing of so eminent concernment upon the World, without a weighty examen of each particular part of it. Monstrous and misshapen Births, they feed the Eye, but not the Intellect. My aim is, in this difficult undertaking, to save after-ages a trouble, by perfecting (if possible) what reasonably may be done in Astrology to their hands. Pardon me, therefore, I pray you, if I transgress a little in point of time; the result, I hope, (God assisting me) will prove an advantage to you, and to Posterity, whatever it date unto — (Sirs)

Your Servant and Well-wisher,

John Gadbury.

It was the saying of a worthy Heathen... Fama de fidei damna magna sunt quae aestimari possunt. That the injuries done to a mans reputation and credit, are unexpressible, and greater then can well be valued : And I think none but such an one, whose study it is to stigmatize the honour of others, can be contented to have his own Fame wounded. It is no great matter of trouble for a House-breaker to be esteemed a Robber ; or, for a Traytor to be accounted a perjured person; because their actions infer a merited necessity.

ty of such a repulse; but for an innocent person to be ranked among Thieves and Murtherers; or, for a Loyal Subject to be numbred with Rebels and Transgressors, is too great injustice for them patiently to bear.

And for those false and malicious reports lately spread abroad concerning me, to the great prejudice of my good Name, [which I desire no longer to live, then to deserve:] as they were manag'd they rendred me a monster, rather than a man; a Devil, and not a Christian: and had almost perswaded with some, that I could scarce own a human shape: That I must of necessity be of the Race of that black Gentleman with the Cloven-foot; from whose acquaintance I must needs derive strange skill and cunning; and thence (to come to the Scandal it self) I am reported to have arrived at the Art of shewing Faces in a Glass, and Persons their Friends fighting Duels, with their wounds bleeding, although they are really in a Countrey far distant: and that by such like Knacks and Tricks, I did delude the fancy and sight of an Honourable young Lord of this Nation, which was pleased so far to grace me, as sometimes to read Astrology to him.

This forgery (certainly coyn'd in Hell) is so reasonless and ridiculous withal, that I wonder how any man, unless instigated thereto by the Devil, should first offer to broach it, and then bruit it abroad for a verity; but it is more miraculous, that any one acquainted with me, should hereunto give credit. My God! that such a story should be spread concerning me, is so prodigiously strange, that I question much, whether I enjoy my Senses when I hear it. I, that have in all my writings discovered the villany and villanous Cheats, practised under pretence of Astrology; and this more fully and plainly then any other man in these dayes professing it, as may be seen—

1. In my Appendix to the Nature of Prodigies.

2. In my Epistle to Brittain's Royal Star.

3. In my Dies Novissimus, or Dooms-day not so near as dreaded.

4. In the Spurious Prognosticks our unmasked.

5. In the Novice Astrologer instructed.

6. In many of my Almanacks: particularly of the years 1660. 1665. 1668. and 1669.

And yet for all this, that I should come to be branded for practising of those Impostures and Delusions, that I have so constantly and zealously declaim'd against, is so unequal, that greater injury and injustice (I think) cannot be fastned upon any man.

I avow

I avow to the whole World, that I know nothing ever said or done by me in my whole life, that can any way countenance or colour so bold and broadfac'd a Slander, that thus commonly and freely passeth upon me, even (as I have been informed) to the abusing the Ears of the most Illustrious and Honourable Personages in the whole Nation. Nor did that Noble Lord, (whose ill fate it was to be a sharer in the abuse with me) ever mention or motion any thing of that Nature to me: neither had we at any time, any colloquy tending to any irreligious or illegal purpose. Astrology is a Science I do profess some acquaintance withal, but unlawful Arts, I both detest and abominate. Nay, so careful I am, that I may not give offence, that in my Practise I do not intermeddle with any part of Astrology neither, that is interdicted by the holy Church, or by the Laws of Nations: both which I account my Glory as well as Duty to observe; and shall also to the best of my power, study to preserve. I know there is a truth in that part of Astrology which treateth of Thefts and Ejectives, &c. and that Holy hath transmitted some rules therein, that may reasonably claim the Title of Infallible: but yet I practise nothing of that kind; (much less do I meddle with any direct and positive cheats or delusions: for by wicked Persons, such matters Astrology is sometimes constrain'd, against her will, to harbour) because (1) the Church hath forbid it; and I read of a Priest that was suspended from his service at the Altar for endeavouring to recover a Theft by his Astrology. (2) Because the Laws of England expressly call it Sorcery; as may be seen by the Statute of 21 Jac. Much mischief (I know) may hereby be done, as well as some good. An Innocent person, by a misapplication of the Artists description, may be presumed the Guilty; and so whole Families that before were in quiet, may come to be set in a Flame. And for the prevention of such irreparable evils, I conceive the Church forbids it, and our Laws esteem it as you have heard. And I have no such Fanatique Worm crawling in my brain (I bless God) as to desire to be thought wiser then a Parliament, or more Ingenious then a General Council.

My design is no other then to do good in my Generation: and as it hath pleased God to incline me to the Study of the Stars, I have endeavoured to understand somewhat of the Nature of those glorious Creatures, their motions and Effects; and I can boast (to his Honour, and my own satisfaction) of some certain and never-failing Truths that I have therein found. And I hope, I may lawfully, and innocently Study and Practise the Book of Heaven, without being deem'd a Deluder, or a Practiser of Diabolical Arts; Syth it is more then probable, that the greater Consideration of that expanded Volume, begets the greater adoration of the Divine Majesty. And perhaps we may find it an experienced Truth, that those which study or regard the Stars least, do pay the smallest Homage to a Deity; it being very likely to find the Atheist and Enemy to Astrology in the same person.

It is either the malice or Ignorance of man-kind, that renders Astrology monstrous with some, and uncertain with others. If it were such as the malicious Person renders it, we should have no wise man pay a respect unto it: whereas (for proof of the contrary) we see the greatest Philosophers and Divines, have been the promoters and conveyers of it to Posterity. And if it were such as the ignorant report it, it were the greatest unhappiness in the World to be an Astrologer: for he in Peace, as a Soldier in War, must carry his Life in his Hand, and expect every one that meets him to prove his Executioner; a Student in a Diabolical Art being no more fit to live then a Witch, or Blasphemer. But blessed be God, though ignorance and malice do abound in this envious Age, yet Truth and knowledge do superabound; and the Astrologer, as an Astrologer, is not by every one deemed so dangerous a Person, but that he may be admitted a conversation with the rest of Human kind, without being branded for either Coniurer or Wizzard.

Fain would I know of any understanding man, what he conceives or can rationally believe there is in Astrology, [an Art that only teacheth the motions and Effects of the Stars] that should render any man monstrous or hated that shall Study it? If he say there are many knaveries practised under it, so there are under any Science or Profession whatsoever. And if we may reasonably measure the worth of Astrology by this Scale, we must upon the same account, reprobate all other Arts: Syth in these late times of Usurpation, many of all Professions were lapst in Rebellion and Treason.

But this Obiter. By the Optique Art are many curious things to be performed, and several shapes may be represented, which ignorant persons not knowing the reasons of, may presume preternatural; but if any man Practise any such thing (to the Delusion of any one) under pretence of Astrology, let not his knavery be imputed to me; it is a Cheat so used; though in it self an ingenious piece piece of Skill, and helps us truly to understand how Light is reflected by God Almighty throughout the whole World; teaching us thereby the reason of the Rainbow, of the Parelii, and Paraselenæ; and of the man also, that seems to us to appear in the moon: so likewise of Spectrums, &c. (for there are reflections within us, as well as without us, which even our Dreams do prove :) and of many other excellent secrets in Nature.

And to be plain, (because people will needs have me to be acquainted with things of this kind, I will undeceive them if I can.) The Glass or Glasses that I study, or commonly see Faces in, are the Figures of persons Nativities. And if Ptolomy, Haly, Bonatus, Cordan, Argel Marine, &c. were not deceived, such Glasses represent the Hearts of people as well as their Faces. (i.e.) They discover the inclinations and frame of the mind, in general things, as well as describe the Features and Marks of the Countenance. And this is the Astrologers priviledge among all his unhappineffes, that no man can understand these Glasses but himself; and truly, if this be to shew Faces in a Glass, I am not a little proud to acknowledge my self guilty thereof, more then a thousand times. But that I ever dealt in that way of shewing Faces in a Glass as is untruly pretended, I must plead not Guilty, and conceive my self most unworthily and maliciously dealt with, in the report; and should be glad to see any one so impudent as to offer to prove any such matter against me;

I acknowledge that I love mirth in a good degree, yet do I not affect jesting with serious things. And rather then to use an allowable freedom to the prejudice of a general belief, I often abridge my self the Indulgence that others commonly take; and (with that noble Frenchman Cartesius) enforce my Reason frequently to strike Sayl to Vulgar Opinion, as not delighting to be thought wise above the ordinary Level, or to heighten the fancy or imagination of any one to the least degree that might endanger it. To slander and Calumniate men, or to cozen them of their mony is ill, and Crimes that certainly merit Punishment; but to circumvent them of their Wits too, (as all those do, that go about to delude them with Lies, and spurious pretences) is intollerable; and in my opinion scarcely deserves mercy.

And I appeal to all those persons, either of high or low degree, that gave themselves the trouble of visiting me, to be satisfied of the certainty, or uncertainty rather, of the forementioned scandal; or to any of all those that I have had to do with in my whole Sixteen years Practice of Astrology; whether they, or any of them, have ever found or observ'd any one thing in, or by me, any way tending to a fraud, or to the promoting of Diabolical or unlawful Practices: Or indeed, any the least matter unbecoming a man, and an Enquirer into the Truth of Science. Howbeit, I acknowledge I am but a man, and so subject to Errour; (nay without doubt have committed many. Pray, who is it of any Faculty that lives faultless?) but that I ever espoused or advanced an Errour wilfully, or that I ever knowingly defended any that did so, I desire the whole World to charge me with. Nay, if I would but have connived at Cheats and Villanies in the practice of others, Professing themselves Astrologers, I needed not ever to have had either controversies in Print, or indeed an Enemy in the World.

Possibly, the unexpectedness and undeservedness of that so great a Scandal cast upon me; together with the great Numbers that constantly (for many weeks) flockt to me upon the noise thereof, might at some times put me into a Passion; So that if any of greater Honor then I supposed, came to me incognito, it is more then probable I might not behave my self toward them according to their Dignity and Worth. If it were so, as I have some reason to believe, they may in some measure thank themselves, and not altogether blame me; However, for any roughness of humour, or misbehaviour so offered by me, I hereby crave Pardon, in case the offence require it. And I am sure a noble Nature must forgive it. For though I profess my self an Astrologer, I do not presume to divine what Persons shall come to see me, nor yet who they are when come; Neither do I know that Astrology pretendeth to any such perfection. In such matters an Astrologer may be cheated as soon as a Physitian by a pretended Urine; or a Lawyer with a knavish and false Case put to him, Astrology dealeth about things Rational, not Enthusiastical, and argueth from the Cause to the Effect, as any other Physical Art; And the Astrologer is not deceiv'd by either Inspiration or Revelation; nor doth he possess any knowledge, but what he may fairly impart to any other that is capable thereof, as it is with the Professors of all other Sciences: He, poor man! being as subject to Starry Influences, as any of the rest of Gods Creatures, and can no more, by his skill prevent his being affronted and abused, (when his Nativty threatens such things) then a Physitian (when under a fatal Direction) by his acquaintance with the noblest medicine can avoid Death. If he could, I might easily prove him somewhat more then a man.

To Conclude, Were the Astrologer so black, in his Practice or Person, as black-mouth'd Envy reports him, it were scarce conceivable by reason, that he should be compounded of the same Elements, or consist of the same parts as other men; or indeed, that he should possess a Soul, for whose Redemption and Salvation our Lord and Saviour suffered Death; but he is a man like unto others, as well in shape and Figure, as in all the varieties of Fortune; as being composed of the same matter, &c. and hath a Soul as near and as dear to God as they :- And therefore, unless he abuse himself and Science, (as I know in this Age, there are too many do; and let them bear their own burthens for me.) Our Reasons cannot answer it to debar him an equal priviledge (ever submitting to Order) with the rest of the Sons of men. He hath indeed, a different part to act on this Theatre of Gods Earth; yet, I hope, nay, am confident, it is as much to Gods glory in its kind, as the parts of other men are, (I will not say more, least I should be thought to presume too far.) And certainly; there is as much Felicity, and Divine Pleasure to be found in speculating the spangled Sky, as in poring upon the more various parts of the dullest Earths Productions.

And know all men by these Presents, That I do not only protest against the aforesaid wicked Practices, which have most unjustly and untruly been sathered upon me, but do also hereby resolve and Engage, -- That, no further then Truth is pursued, and the Adoration of the Deity is promoted by Astrology, shall that Celebrated Science be ever Studied or owned by me; who, after so great an abuse cast upon me, and my Practices, am not yet ashamed or affraid of owning my Profession. For, it must be a Demonstration in the Power of the Truth, and not every Scandalous and mendacious report, that shall bring Astrology into disfavour with—

J. Gadbury.

Of the Eclipses this present Year 1670.

THe two great Luminaries of Heaven, will, to us that inhabit this Terrene Globe, be twice a piece this year Eclipsed, but three of these Eclipses will be invisible in our Horizon, and the last of the Moon only to be seen in England. I will mention them in order.

The First will be an Eclipse of the Moon upon the 26th. day of March, about our 11 a Clock before noon, and will be conspicuous to those that inhabit our Antipodes, and also in the Peruvian Ocean, California, Florida, Mexicana, &c. It is Celebrated in the 16th. Degree of Libra, entering the Via Combusta, and in the fourth Angle, the Grave, &c. And Presages the death of some Eminent Queen, Empress, Princess, or Dutchess, &c. that hath Libra ascending at her Nativity.

The Second, is an Eclipse of the Sun, and happens on April the Ninth day near upon the *Sun*s descending below our Hemisphere, and will be seen by such as Inhabite the North west part of the World, viz about Estotiland, Nova Francia, &c. This Eclipse happens in the very beginning of Taurus, in the Seventh and Sixth Houses of Heaven: The Moon Eclipses the Sun, in the entrance into her Exaltation. The Eclipse falls in a Fixed Point of Heaven, it will not have its Effects suddenly. 'Tis the fore runner of great and remarkable Designes and Contrivances.

The Third is a defect of the Moon upon September the 19th, about two or three a Clock in the Morning; it is Celebrated in 6. Degrees of Aries: The point it falls in, is neither my Ascendant, Mid-heaven, Sun, or Moon: Look them to it whose it is. It falls in an Active place of Heaven, and great and remarkable Actions will be the Effects thereof. This Eclipse will be seen in London, and therefore I will present you with the beginning, middle, and end thereof, &c.

		D.	H.	L.	II.
The	Beginning of this Eclipse is Sept.	18.	13.	17.	58.
	The true Opposition of the Luminaries	14	39.	34
	Middle of the Eclipse is at	14.	44.	48.
	End of the Eclipse is at	16.	11.	38.
	Total Duration is	2	53.	40.
	Digits Eclipsed are	9.	32.	59.

It will be a great Eclipse, and most worthy the painful Astronomers observation, and his communication thereof, will be an Obligation upon Posterity.

The Fourth and Last Eclipse will be of the Sun, upon the Third of October, about Eleven a Clock at night, and therefore it cannot be seen of us; but it will be seen by such as inhabit the more remote Southern parts of the Earth, and among such as are neerly our Antipodes: in the Straights of Magellanica, &c. It happens in Twenty Degrees of Libra, near, or rather in Conjunction of that Glorious Fixed Star of the First Magnitude, Spica Virginis. The Influences of the Stars reach our Antipodes as well as we, and Europe is more the wonder of it self, then of the World. Earthquakes, Plagues, Conflagrations, Wars, Translations of Kingdoms, &c. are the Portion of the Southern, or South west Inhabitants of this Darker Star of Earth, as well as the Northern or Eastern. And thus much for Eclipses this Year.

Kings are Terrestrial Gods! and govern here,
As Jove himself above the glittering Sphere.
To him bright Stars and Angels Homage give:
Who grutches it, he sends to Hell to Live.

By their example, lets yield CHARLES his Due;
For He's our DREAD, and GRACIOUS SOV'RAIGN too.

The sober man, is to himself a Law;

His Reason can his boyst'rous Passions owe.

But for the hair-brain'd furious Wight we see

Too little Kings-bench, and Chancery

To keep him in: His Countreys Customs too,

Gods Lawes and all, he strives to overthrow.

Dormit aliquando Lex, moritur nunquam.

January 1670.

Full quarter, the 4 day, at 9 in the morning.

New moon, the 12 day, at 2 afternoon.

First quarter, the 18 day, at 5 in the morning.

Full moon the 25 day, at 9 in the evening.

The Planet Zenar shines gloriously in the evenings, and by a Tube may be seen, like the Moon in Quadrate face with the Sun.

February 1670.

Last quarter, the 3 day, at 3 in the morning.

New moon, the 9 day, at midnight exactly.

First quarter, the 16 day, at 5 in the afternoon.

Full moon, the 24 day, at 6 in the afternoon.

Jupiter sets after midnight, and soon after that Mars himself.

March hath xxxj dayes.

Last March a June-like weather did produce;
 To the Springs issue of most gentle use:
 This March will want of that's Salubrity;
 Yet kinder proves, then March is wont to be.
 The double smiles that Venus casts on Jove
 Refresh the Earth with warmth, Men's hearts with Love.

April hath xxx. dayes.

Who dares deny unto the Stars a Power
To change the Weather every Day or Hour?
I'll wager with him, if I might find
The Easter holy dayes to them unkind.
But here's the mischief: If it should prove true,
A Witch I am: If false, A Fool, say you.

1	☾					8	36	This is a time of sowing Barley. I am no Husband man or Farmer, I wish I were not that I am necessitated, (for I have lived above the frowne of Fortune, or Envy of my Enemies) but because I esteem him the only happy man. Beatus Al &c. We must acknowledge that he who hath made and doth dispose of Times, hath also distinguished them. And every year affordeth not an equal Crop: nay, in the most plentiful years, some persons meet but mean returns of the Grain they Sow. And what's the Reason? If all times were alike Fortunate, why not the like effects still, though from different beginnings? Therefore let the ingenious Country-man try the times following, viz. the 1 & 6 days, from 8 to 10 or 11 in the morn, the 14 19 20 and 27 from a little before 7 to 10 in the mor. And if he try also other times, let him note them down carefully, and observe the event. If he find my advice successful, let him give God the Glory

Observations.

It is usual in this month to sow divers sorts of Seeds of pleasant Summer Herbs, as Majorom, Basil, &c. And also to set several others, as Sage, &c. according to the Proverb, See Sage in May, 'Twill last alway.

But then it must not be when the Moon is in any ill Aspect of Saturn or Mars; or when either of them are in the Ascendant, or in exact opposition thereto; for then it will be so far from lasting alwayes, that it will never come to good. There is more Philosophy & Astrology to be learn'd from Husbandry, then many are able to conceive, or then some are willing to believe. And I have sometimes heard an ingenious Gardner from his Observations & Experience, to put a learned Scholar to his no plus ultra. And I must tell you (in favor of the honest Country man) that the Influences of heaven speak English as well as Latin.

Observations.

In July, it is usual to gather seeds and flowers, (and herbs also) to preserve. And what if I should tell thee, such keep best, that are gathered when Jupiter or Venus are in the Ascendant, or in good Aspect unto it, and the Moon in good Configuration of them; and that they continue their Physical vertue and odour longer, then when gathered at other times? It is a truth; and I am acquainted with some Ladies and Gentlewomen, whose curious fancies have led them to the knowledge of so much of the Starry virtues, that they pleasingly ride themselves in the experience hereof, annually. The same Rule may be observed in the beginning of all sorts of distillations, Hot or Cold. Or. For surely there is a Time for every purpose under Heaven, if Mortals could be but so happy, as to hit on it. Εἴρωσκε καίρεν, was Pithacus his Maxim, and a true one.

 The honest Farmers Harvest-hopes impaires:
 And t'wards the Full-moon threatens him with Rain,
 May somewhat prejudice his dear-bought Grain.

Here Mars and Stilbon's Square, makes ruffling sky:
 And knavish Pamphlets about the Town do fly.
 But Chronos envious ray on Venus cast,
 Brings (on some worthy Lady) mischiefs fall:
 Mild Aphrodite leaves the Lyon bold,
 Lamenting Venus is too cheaply sold.

October hath xxxj dayes.

No Miracles, I hope, October yields

As clear a Sky, as Verdant Walkes and Fields.

As April can: warm weather too, like May:

And ev'rything (but Trees) keeps Holy-day.

The Stars (Sub Deo) Absolute Monarchs are,

Can make War, Peace; and (when they please) Peace, War.

The Dominion of the Moon in Man's Body as she passeth the XII. Zodiacal Constella- tions.

♊ Head and Face.

♊ Neck and Throat.

♋ Breast, Stomach & ribs.

♌ Bowels and Belly.

♍ Secret members.

♎ The Knees.

♊ Arms and Shoulders.

♌ Heart and Back.

♍ Reins and Loins.

♎ The Thighs.

♏ The Legs.

♐ The Feet.

- ♊ Mans Head and Face, Heavens Ram obey;
- ♋ His Neck, the Neck strong Bull doth sway;
- ♌ Th' arm twining Twins guide Hands and Arms;
- ♍ Breast, Sides and Stomach, Cancer charms;
- ♎ The Lyon rules our Back and Heart;
- ♏ Bowels and Belly's Virgo's part;
- ♐ Reins, Haunches, Navil, Libra friends;
- ♑ Bladder and Secrets, Scorpio tends.
- ♒ The Half-hors'd Bow-man claims the Thighs;
- ♓ And to the Kid our knees suffice.
- ♈ Our Legs are but the Butlers Fees;
- ♉ The Fish, our Footsteps oversees.

Let not blood, when the Moon is in a sign representing the Member, or part of the body you would bleed in, chiefly, if she be in ill configuration of ♀ or ♂ there, for it is of very dangerous consequence, as I have proved oftentimes.
